CONCORDIA

We never found it difficult to relax.
Everywhere seemed right,
But some places invite you to take it easy, even to play.

Then there were the moments of work, too ...

TAKES IT EASY

CONCORDIANS AT WORK

CONCORDIA - FUTURE TENSE

Remember walking blocks to the Norris Library? And when you got there they had to send away to a converted fur storage building to get your book? When you finally got the book you had to fight for a seat?

Concordia's library problems grew out of using the libraries of two old colleges to meet modern university needs. But soon no more! 1986 should see a new Concordia and half the twelve story structure that will be raised on today's parking lot across from the Hall Building is earmarked for the Library. Commerce and Administration, Engineering and Computer Science will be there too, as well as the offices of Admissions and Registrar Services. Then there may be room in the Hall Building for all those other departments and services scattered along Bishop and Mackay Streets.

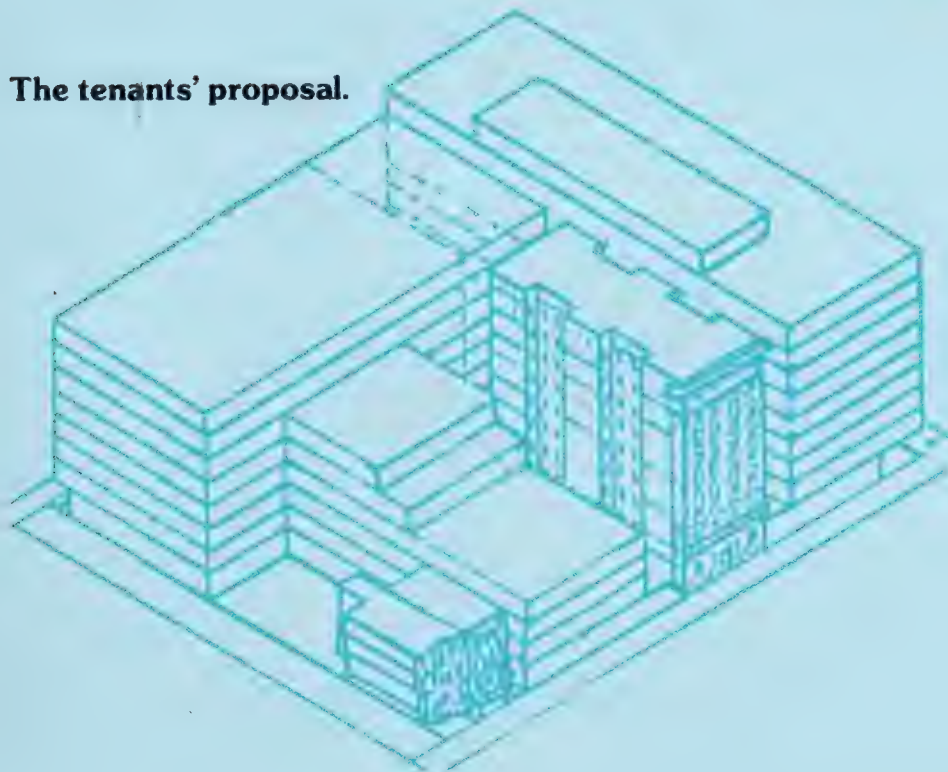

A tunnel to the Hall Building and another to the Guy Metro Station will end forever those ghastly treks in blizzards you remember so well. Concordia is about to join Montreal's underground city.

Water and plans don't stop flowing and many semi-plans have washed away. New ideas kept arriving and old ones floated off. Even the tenants of the historic Royal George had their idea.

The tenants' proposal.

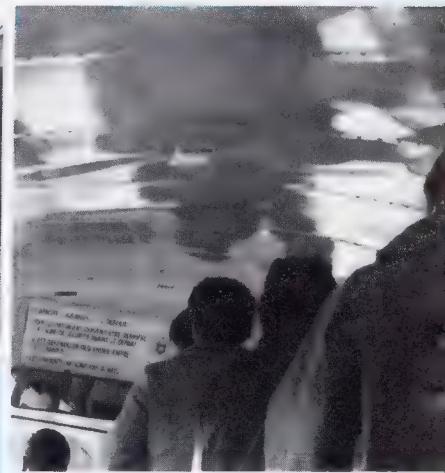

LOYOLA ...

Seas of grass setting islands of old architecture
and newer additions,
our "country club" campus provided the serenity we loved and found hard to get downtown.

SHUTTLE BUS

Playfully, lovingly, dubbed our scuttle bus,
 It joined our two halves,
 A concrete and a country club campus.
 This year at last
 Extended hours,
 To eleven at night!
 And what a success!
 Some of us practically lived on this bus.

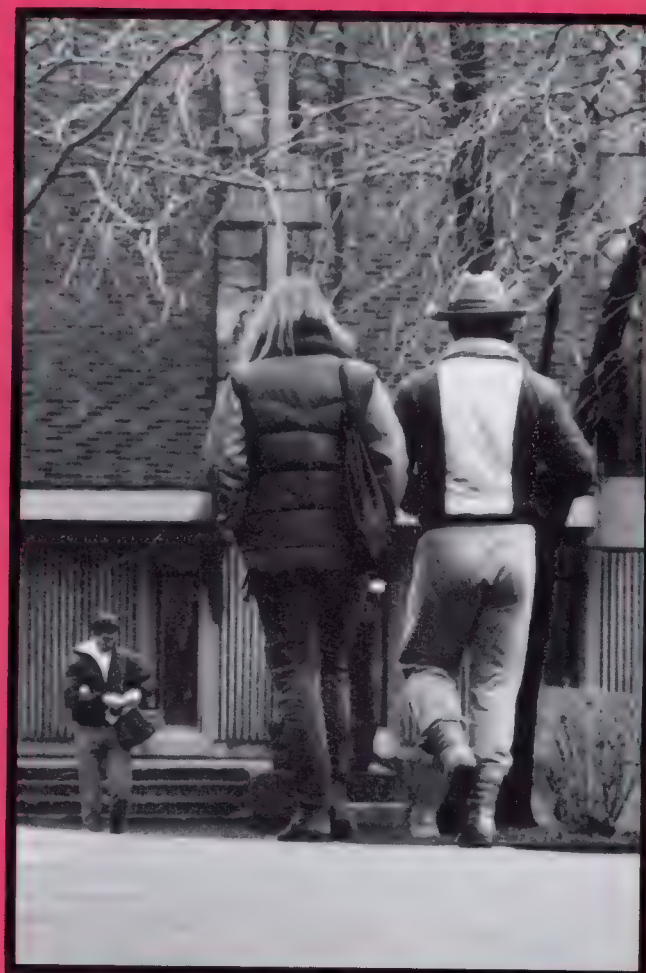

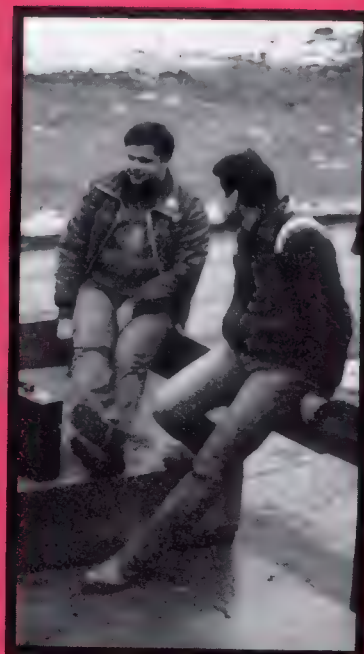

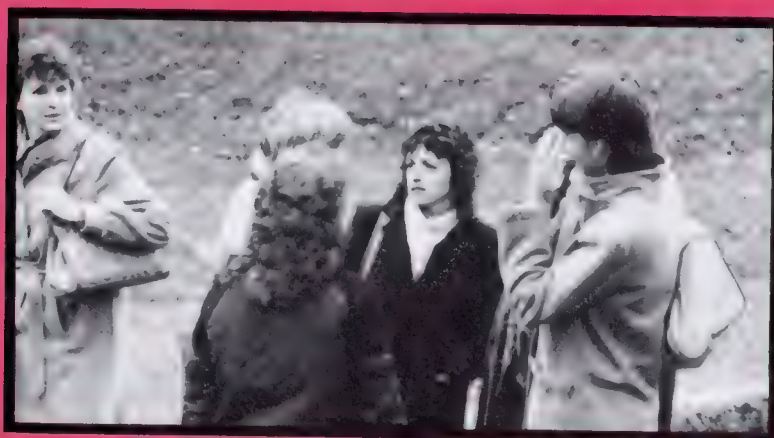

... SIR GEORGE WILLIAMS

On escalators that never seemed to work (or rather, were always being worked upon) we tunneled up through the mountain of our "concrete campus"
to our several havens there or turned across some street to another makeshift old annex.

CANDIDLY

WINTER

Why waste University on study? That question has occurred to more than a few students, especially at exam time when wrestling with term papers or when being dismissed from a long registration lineup because of computer foul-ups. What's more natural than to use some of that time for fun? At the beginning of the year that philosophy is expressed by the Street Festival. At midyear the Winter Carnival does that job.

Whether bathing at the Pool Party, gambling at the Casino Night, golfing at 20 below zero or competing in the Indoor Olympics, the Winter Carnival is sheer fun.

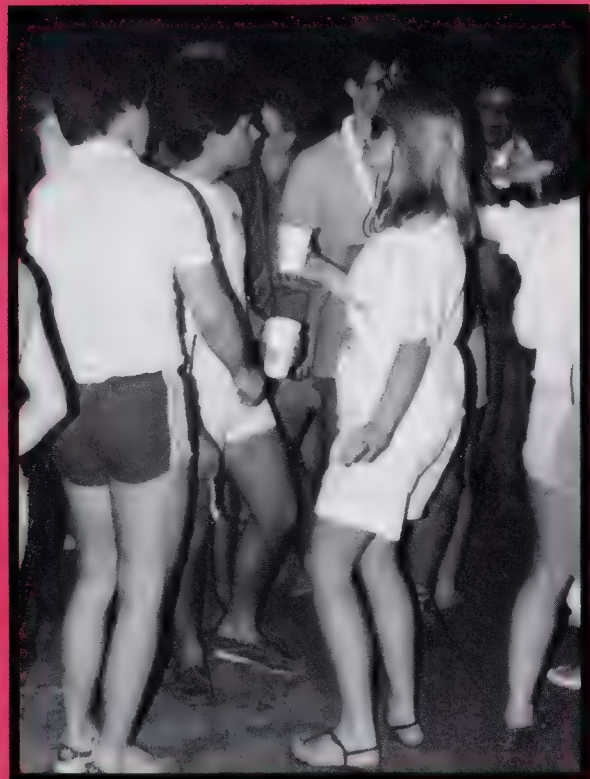

And with all the heavy drinking going on, a "Day of Atonement" for recovery from hangovers was officially proclaimed to cap this annual winter celebration.

concordia takes to the street

It's not every day that one can brag he's owned the street. But on September 15 that's exactly what Concordia's population could do with the first ever STREET FESTIVAL.

Crossing Sherbrooke St. can prove to be a painful experience on any given day but not on this special occasion, for Sherbrooke Street was blocked between West Broadway and Belmore Streets. Consequently, pedestrian circulation was never so easy.

In all, it was a joyful occasion. The sun shone, CBC Radio was broadcasting live, exhibitions were set, "ASTERIX" and "OBELIX" even paid us a visit and all of this could be witnessed from the Ferris Wheel which dominated the site.

No doubt we should look forward to and expect a street festival again next year. At least let's hope so.

A cultural experience

Concordia University is a gigantesque cultural cosmopolite in its own right. There is very little doubt that this variety of cultures brings a new and fresh dimension to Concordia, and therefore can only be seen as a benefit to the University's population.

Throughout the year, different exhibitions and events are organized to "expose" students and staff to this cultural enrichment. Although not all events could be reproduced, the following two pages give us a taste of what culture is all about. Enjoy.

Loyola Campus Centre Tenth Anniversary

RECTOR'S MESSAGE

The University experience has always been hard to characterize and summarize. It's difficult to equate the years spent at the institution with a simple formula and come up with a definite answer. There are so many aspects to the learning process from formal lectures, papers and tests to informal chats with faculty and peers that make it impossible to compose a clear cut summation of university life. Couple that with the variety of programs, subjects and disciplines available here, and you realize the scope of the problem.

In spite of this, I can say with certainty that Concordia has done its best to prepare you for the world you enter 'once you pass through these portals of learning', to coin that hoary cliché. Of course, I don't mean that your Concordia degree will automatically get you a lifetime career or even a job. No institution can do that. Nor should it.

The value of your university education goes beyond any direct career training or technical expertise that you may have gained while at Concordia. More importantly, you will have gained the ability to think in an organized fashion and come up with solutions to problems at hand. These general thinking skills will stand you in good stead over the long run because most likely you will not end up with the career for which you studied. Surveys show that most college graduates change jobs and careers several times over a lifetime.

What the University has helped you gain then is the ability to adapt to new situations--a very good skill in these times of technological change and constant threats of job obsolescence. Machines and ways and systems of doing things come and go, but not the ability to think and conceptualize. That will always remain with you.

Thus, when you think about your alma mater in the years to come, remember that what the University has given you is something you'll always have.

Congratulations, and I wish you success and happiness in all your endeavors.

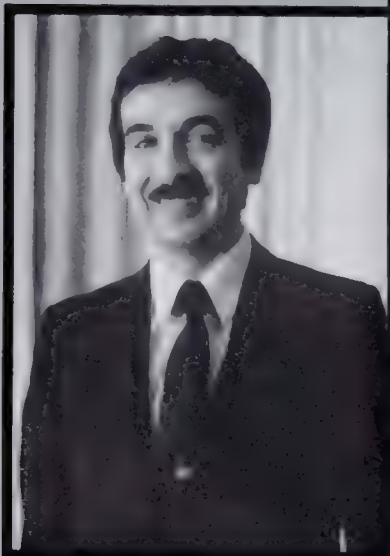

Fifteen years as Principal and Rector, and fifteen years before that as professor at this institution ended for John W. O'Brien in June '84. He had presided over the merger of Sir George Williams University and Loyola College to form Concordia University, and had guided it through difficulties the student body could not easily appreciate, irregular and substandard provincial financing, incredible growth from YMCA evening classes through adult education College to a ballooning University, shortage of facilities and unpredictable enrollments.

His community involvement has not been less significant, whether with the "Y", the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts, the Boy Scouts, the Fraser-Hickson Institute, Vanier College, the Canadian Mental Health Association, the Quebec Council on Immigration, and numerous inter-university bodies. McGill University and Bishop's University have both awarded him honorary doctorates since our founding.

We who have never known the University without him, wish him enjoyment of his first sabbatical in a very long time. This edition of the Concordia Yearbook is dedicated with appreciation to John W. O'Brien.

CONCORDIA UNIVERSITY

1974-1984

1984 - this is the year Concordia University celebrates its 10th Anniversary. It was in August 1974 that Concordia was formally established through the merger of Sir George Williams University and Loyola College.

Concordia University thus inherits the tradition of two century-old institutions. Loyola was founded by the Jesuits in 1848, while Sir George Williams developed out of YMCA night classes that began in 1873. Among these traditions is a special concern for the needs of part-time students, many of whom, undergraduate and graduate, work during the day and study in the evening.

What began as the linking of two separate institutions has led to the creation of a truly new university. Concordia is well known for its innovative approach to higher education and learning, as well as for its accessibility, and strong graduate programs whether based on research strength or on a community need for career training. The University also has researchers and research centres with a national reputation.

Concordia today has more than 25,000 students, of whom 22,000 are in undergraduate programs, divided equally between full-time and part-time. There are 3,000 graduate students, also roughly split between full-time and part-time. They study in four Faculties: Arts and Science; Commerce and Administration; Engineering and Computer Science; and Fine Arts. In addition, some 5,000 people take the business, language and applied arts courses offered by the self-financing Centre for Continuing Education.

There are two campuses. The Sir George Williams Campus downtown is centred on the Hall Building on de Maisonneuve Boulevard. It includes the Norris Building on Drummond Street, and the Visual Arts Building on Dorchester Boulevard. The Loyola Campus consists of a complex of buildings on and around a traditional 50-acre campus in western Notre Dame de Grace, together with the main athletic installations.

Last spring Concordia launched its first Capital Campaign, which seeks to raise $25 million for the new library centre downtown, expansion of the library on the west end campus, and other projects ranging from research installations to a teaching theatre and graduate fellowships. Close to 40 per cent of the money has been raised in the first year.

Among the events for this fall's 10th Anniversary celebrations are: an Opening Day with street festivals and department open houses; displays and presentations at four major shopping centres; a story-telling and oral history program bringing together Montreal story-tellers and outside specialists; a series of public lectures by distinguished alumni. These and other activities, continuing into the spring of 1985, will highlight the Concordia contribution to higher education as well as the close ties the University shares with the Montreal community.

DEAN OF STUDENTS OFFICE

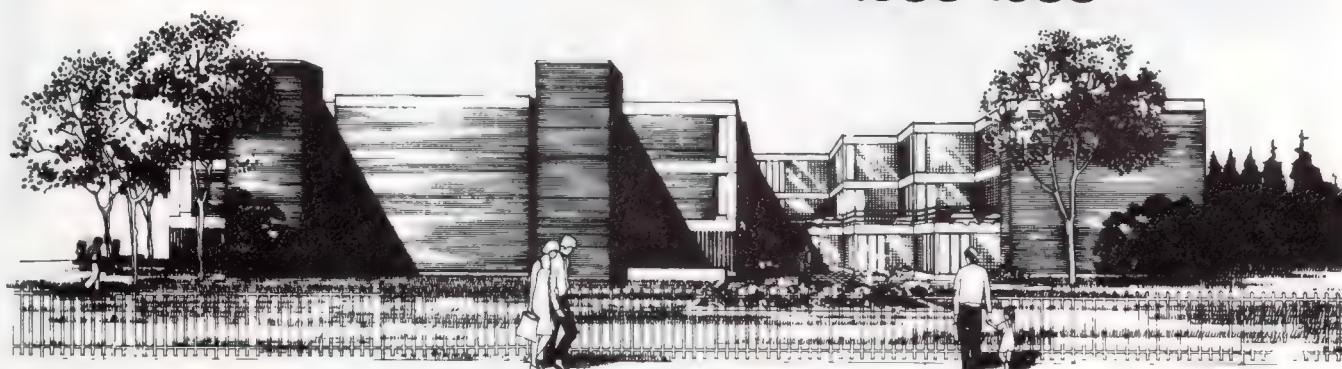

Building together to meet the challenge of the times.

University Library Centre — Sir George Williams Campus
View of nine-storey terraced and recessed structure as seen from the Henry F. Hall Building. The plan, devised by the architectural firm of Sankey Werleman Guy/Blouin, has been cited for fitting into the neighbourhood with "sensitivity" by Canadian Architect magazine which selected it for its award of excellence. The building will allow the library, as well as the Faculty of Commerce & Administration and several university departments to vacate scattered and costly rented facilities.

Vanier Library Extension — Loyola Campus
Lower illustration shows how extension (doubling Vanier Library space) will run east from the original block at left. Scattered facilities will be consolidated in the enlarged structure freeing areas for other pressing needs. One of these is a senate chamber. Since Loyola and Sir George Williams merged, facilities have had to be rented at the PSBGM headquarters building.

National Chairman, William W. Stinson, President, Canadian Pacific Limited
"I think it is important that we have a strong Concordia in Montreal — and for people to appreciate that Concordia serves all segments of the community — all levels of society. So if people see this, if they want their city to develop culturally and in economic terms, then they will see that Concordia needs library and laboratory facilities and I believe we shall get these people on board to help us."

What do you and Mordecai Richler, Hana Gartner, Elizabeth Spencer, Bob Berry, and Gilly Filsner have in common?

Is it that... you wrote The Apprenticeship of Duddy Kravitz?... or that you are a co-host of CBC Television's Fifth Estate news magazine... or that you are one of America's most respected authors?

... or that you were or are an NHL coach?... or that you won a Rhodes Scholarship this year?...

- ● ● Of course the real answer is that you all chose the right school to undertake your university studies. You and the thousands of others who have gone on from Loyola, Sir George Williams and Concordia to shape their communities in imaginative and fruitful ways.

The Concordia University Alumni Association

Now that you have graduated, you have been automatically registered in the general membership of the Concordia University Alumni Association.

Staying in Touch: The purpose of the association is to keep you plugged into the university so that you can be a part of its future: to have a voice in maintaining those things you believe should be maintained, to have a say in changing those things that ought to be changed. The association keeps you up to date with developments at the university through periodic newsletters and through Concordia University Magazine which is distributed free to new graduates and to those who continue active membership by making annual donations after the first year. The magazine also reports on what other graduates are up to in Canada and around the world.

Real Participation

A Strong Voice: The association interprets alumni concerns through its membership on the Board of Governors and on the many advisory and decision-making committees that operate across the university. The influence of the alumni is growing. Groups working at the university and faculty levels continue to seek wider participation of graduates because they have a first-hand knowledge of the strengths and weaknesses of the programs they undertook and because they have a ready knowledge of how their academic experience serves them beyond university.

Personal Contact: Alumni get-togethers are held regularly in Montreal and at various centres in Canada and in the United States. Some are strictly social, others strictly business (well, almost).

Objectives of the Association

The association came into being in 1982 on the recommendation of the Sir George Williams and Loyola alumni associations. First among its objectives was to create fellowship among graduates of both founding institutions and graduates of Concordia.

Another objective was to strengthen links with all graduates with a view to increasing their involvement in the continuing development of the university, through advisory, fund-raising and student recruitment work. Another objective was to coordinate and streamline some of the activities of the three associations and avoid the bureaucratic pitfalls of operating three loosely administered associations.

Student Programs

The association supports a variety of special events and programs for students in such areas as freshman orientation, career workshops as well as other academic and campus projects, allowing students to draw on the diverse expertise of graduates.

1983-84 Concordia Alumni Association Board of Directors

Graduating Class Officers

A vital aspect of alumni work: These are the people who keep in touch with members of their graduating classes; among the tools they use is the class letter, mailed out annually, to keep graduates posted on reunions and get-togethers at the university and across the chapter network. The Class of '84 still needs volunteers.

Alumni Records

Graduates change their address an average of seven times in the first 10 years after graduation, so it is vital that they keep the association abreast of changes; postage is too costly to waste on out-of-date addresses. Out-dated addresses also prevent graduates from keeping in touch with one another when graduates turn to the association for help in locating old acquaintances.

Chapter Network

There are now Concordia chapters in Ottawa, Toronto, Winnipeg, Calgary, Edmonton, Vancouver, Victoria, San Francisco and Los Angeles. Cities are added as demand arises. Concordia, Sir George Williams and Loyola alumni groups offer a busy schedule of activities in Montreal throughout the year.

This 'Bud's for you, two.

Something for everyone ...

MONDAY

The scoop on sports. News from the Big O. Red Fisher. A full page of amateur sports news. Scoreboard statistics. For Montreal's best sports.

THURSDAY

Fresh ideas for your home from Annabelle King. Renovations. Furniture. Fabrics. Decorate for a lot less. Plus seniors' topics. Gardening tips. The Gazette ... growing with you.

TUESDAY

The word on fashion from Iona Monahan. What people are wearing. Where to buy "the look". The latest from Italy, Paris, New York and Montreal.

FRIDAY

That's entertainment. The Weekend Guide. Helen Rochester's restaurant reviews. Gillian Gayton's wine column. Tommy Schnurmacher's gossip. The Gazette ... for the fun of it!

WEDNESDAY

What's cooking? Fabulous food. Julian Armstrong's best buys. Budget recipes. Gourmet ideas. Advertised specials. Plenty of food for thought.

SATURDAY

News to fill a weekend. The Weekly Review. Aislin. TV Times. Travel. Books. Real estate and career ads. A color comic book. The best read in town.

The Gazette

POETRY AND PAINTING - WILLIAM LEONHARDT

FABLE

Consider well the dinosaur,
 Learned to stand up from all four,
 Swim, eat grass, yes! even fly
 (Which is considerably more than I),
 Grew big, destroyed and resisted destroyer,
 Learned in short to be a self employer.
 This, indeed most marvellous wrought,
 Was sudden stricken and to nothing brought:
 The poor old dinosaur who once did range
 No longer does -- he forgot to change,
 Except as death is change galore.
 Don't let's be a dinosaur!

AWAY

Laden with the weight of your departure,
The heavy bow bends low
Of the great willow cut over the walk,
Rooted, or perhaps it too would go.

The tears it sheds on the paving stones
Your feet this morning trod
Mock the crying universe itself,
The tumultuous tears of God.

For the gray impenetrability of his heaven
Is wracked with sobs.
They flash and boom their mighty loss
Which us here also robs,

While I, thru windowpanes that warp
With water's run, do stare,
Till what is blurred by my own self
Mingles with what is by the air.

Hissing of tires along the wet morning road
Complains to all the land
That you have left me, and tho I do,
I MUST not understand.

BEING NICE

At the party last night she passed
Straight and smiling, with upswept hair,
Cool, nor glancing right or left.
Wasn't she nice to the others there?

OCTET TO THE NIGHT FLYER

Moth,
Safely out beyond my cloth
And sure defenses of the pane,
There in the dark you seek my light in vain.
Angel, you come wings to beat
Helplessly, my bastions to defeat.
No, little flutterer! on pinions of gold you ride,
And the night -- good God! -- is here inside.
